Method 4K or Kumu Contemporary Art Cards (picture 1) (in Estonian Kumu kaasaegse kunsti kaardid) was worked out in the Kumu Education Centre. The inspiration source was homepage of BALTIC Centre for Contemporary Art www.balticmill.com. 4K is first of all an opportunity to discover a contemporary art, to experience and learn relying on open questions. To answer the questions it is enough of your own life experience. The cards are made first and foremost to give courage to get in contact with contemporary art and share your own experience with others. It is possible to use cards to explore contemporary art exhibitions independently by yourself or at the museum lessons lead by museum pedagogue. Due to this method museum lesson is changed to lesson where participates do speak more than pedagogue. This method is also very good to prepare seminars about art in the context of a museum and it can be used not only in Kumu but at every contemporary art exhibition.
